EXTERIOR OF THE HEALTH EXHIBIT CAR

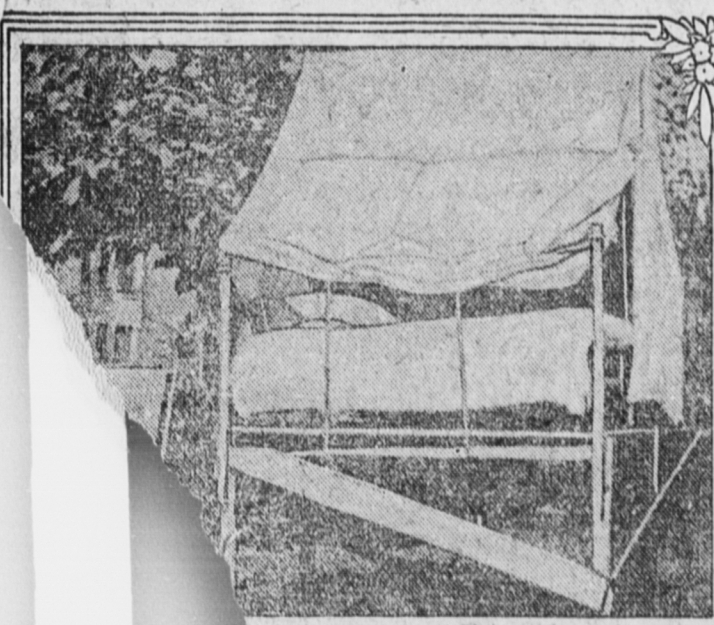

THIS shows a whole school with a number of adult passersby who have just viewed the health exhibit sent out over the railroads of the state by the Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission. These exhibits show in simple form all the average layman needs to know about how he may catch consumption, how he may be cured of the disease and how this great plague may be driven out of the state.

READY FOR THE ROAD

THE Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission in an endeavor to reach the people of the rural districts of certain counties in the state has equipped an automobile with an entire outfit for producing moving pictures. Films regarding tuberculosis, supplemented by stereopticon slides and accompanied by a lecturer, were used last summer to reach over 21,000 people in nine different counties. Most of the demonstrations were given in the open air, besides country churches and schools, and in every case the teachers and physicians of the county have co-operated heartily in taking this message of good health to as many people as possible. The record attendance was 750 in one evening at a tiny village several miles from the railroad. This equipment will be used again during the coming summer.

Visiting Nurse Saves Her Eyesight

THIS woman with an infected eye was found by a nurse representing the state tuberculosis commission. The nurse secured for her proper medical treatment and showed the woman how to care for herself. Her eyesight was saved. If she had not been found by the nurse she would have delayed visiting the physician till her case had been hopeless.

Home Treatment of Tuberculosis in Summer

BUILD a floor on a dry bit of ground. It is best to have it raised a few inches above the ground. Erect a tent over it, get a reclining chair and some simple furniture, and you are ready for a cheerful life at home while you fight that dread enemy, the Great White Plague.

Insuring a Family

THIS consumptive girl lived in a little house with her parents and four brothers and a sister. When the visiting nurse of the city called upon her she found the whole family in danger of contracting tuberculosis from the young woman through ignorance of the proper methods of caring for the patient. The nurse instructed the members of the family about the preparation of the girl's food and the care of her room, so as to give her every chance for life. Most important of all, the nurse showed how the disease tuberculosis is spread from one person to another through the spit and spray from the mouth of a consumptive. They were taught that all of the expectations should be caught in paper boxes or napkins and burned. These instructions practically insure the lives of the other members of the family.

Per Capita Increased.

The school per capita has been fixed at $5.25 for the year 1915, and the school term has been extended to seven months.

Saloon-Keepers' Liability.

The Times-Review, of North Chicago, Ill., has the story in a nutshell:

"Anthony Moran, who lived near here and who had beaten his wife at their home outside the city limits of North Chicago on Twenty-second street, on a Friday night in February, was arrested, indicted by the grand jury, tried, and convicted of assault with intent to kill, although he sticks to the statement that he 'did not know what he was doing.' He was sentenced to the penitentiary for fourteen years."

The month before, Mrs. Moran had written a pathetic letter to her husband's employer. Anthony was spending his money on drink when the family had to have coal and food. The company tried to get the saloons to stop his liquor, and, failing, held his wages for her. Then the husband beat her up. Why isn't the saloon liable for this? Here's a woman half killed, a family broken up, a man in jail for fourteen years, and all for a little money in the till, another remittance to the distiller. How long must the rest of us pay the damages for this dirty business, Collier's National Weekly.

Notice To Overseers.

Gentlemen:—I am going to give you one more fair warning—you must get busy immediately and put your respective roads in good condition or you will be cited to appear and show cause why you have not. And when I say good condition I mean good. The practice of scratching a little dirt in the grand jury's eyes has been too long prevalent in this county and it must stop. I am going to make a personal tour of inspection over the county this fall to see what condition your roads are in so it is up to you to act and act at once. Corn crops are laid by and harvest is over and you have no excuse for not working your roads.

Very Respectfully,
S. S. Dennis,
County Judge.

Funeral Services.

The funeral services of Jno A. Henry will be preached at the Flat Woods school house on the Second Sunday in August. Elders, Lacy, Murphy and Gevedon will conduct the services.

ANNUAL MEETING OF COMMISSION

GREAT WORK BEING DONE IN ESTABLISHING LIBRARIES OVER THE STATE.

SECRETARY MAKES HIS REPORT

Dr. William B. Doherty Re-Elected Chairman of Kentucky Library Association.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.) Frankfort.—The Kentucky Library Commission re-elected Dr. William B. Doherty, of Louisville, chairman at its annual meeting here. Gen. John B. Castleman, appointed to succeed Geo. T. Settle, of Louisville, was sworn in as a member of the commission. Others present were Mrs. George A. Flournoy, Paducah; Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, Richmond; Dr. William B. Doherty, Louisville, and Frank Kavanaugh, state librarian. The report of the secretary, Miss Fannie Rawson, showed that since 1911, the first year of its operation, the number of public libraries in the state has grown from 26 to 48, and college libraries from 10 to 17, many of these through the encouragement and assistance of the commission, and there are libraries in 65 of the 120 counties.

Library Commission Meets.

The library commission re-elected Dr. William B. Doherty, of Louisville, president. General John B. Castleman of Louisville, recently appointed a member of the commission, met with the other members. Miss Fannie Rawson, secretary, filed her report with the commission. It shows that the commission now has 10,628 volumes, 1,454 of which have been added since December. During the last six months 138 libraries have circulated in sixty counties. During the last year 253 libraries have been circulated, reaching 64,500 people. In 1911 there were 26 public libraries and 10 college libraries. To date there are 48 public libraries and 17 college libraries. During the last six months libraries have been established at Ashland, Bardwell, Columbia, Erlanger, Georgetown, Princeton and Stanford. The libraries at Frankfort and Hopkinsville have been made free libraries.

Tax Suits Filed.

Sixty-five tax suits were filed by the county attorney in the office of Circuit Clerk Kelly C. Smith, the total amount involved being somewhere in the neighborhood of $300. The suits are for taxes on property which in many instances has reverted to the state by reason of the failure to sell it when it was put up at public auction for delinquent state and county taxes. The petitions are filed for the purpose of enforcing the state's claim for possession of the property unless the amount of the delinquent tax with the accrued penalties is paid by the person in whose name it is listed.

Given Strong Impetus.

A strong impetus to the "Anti-Hog Cholera Clubs," which R. H. Felts, government farm demonstrator, is organizing in the county for the better understanding of the care and prevention of cholera, has been given by the outbreak of the disease on a farm near the Deshon schoolhouse on the Peak's Mill pike. Mr. Felts has been vaccinating the herd and taking other precautions in the hope of preventing further spread of the disease. Hogs died of cholera on this farm two years ago and were buried. Dogs dug up the carcasses and to this is attributed the present outbreak.

May Call Off Encampment.

Unless the railroads make a rate of one cent a mile for the troops of the Kentucky National Guard for the annual encampment, which, it is announced will be held in Owensboro July 15-22, there is a possibility of the encampment being abandoned this year. A telegram was sent the Owensboro Chamber of Commerce, from Adj. Gen. J. L. Ellis, advising the organization to stop all arrangements for the encampment at once, and to send a committee to Louisville in an effort to get the one cent rate.

Did Not Attend.

Governor McCreary was unable to attend the dedication of the Daniel Boone monument at Cumberland Gap June 30. It was the expectation of the committee in charge at Middlesboro that the Governors of Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina would participate in the exercises, but Governor McCreary stated that a prior engagement of such importance that he could not postpone prevented his acceptance of the invitation.

Jail Sentences Remitted.

Gov. McCreary remitted the remaining six weeks of a jail sentence of six months given Charles Desse in the Jefferson county jail for petit larceny, and a ten days' sentence given Deland Porter in the Spencer county jail for carrying concealed a deadly weapon. Porter paid a fine of $50.

Appointed to Board.

Gov. McCreary appointed Dr. Thos. H. Posey, of Lawrenceburg, a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners.

FREE PORTS BUILDERS OF COMMERCE

CONGRESS SHOULD GIVE THEM
PREFERENCE IN APPROPRIATIONS.

By Peter Radford.

This nation is now entering upon an era of marine development. The wreckage of European commerce has drifted to our shores and the world war is making unprecedented demands for the products of farm and factory. In transportation facilities on land we lead the world but our port facilities are inadequate, and our flag is seldom seen in foreign ports. If our government would only divert the energy we have displayed in conquering the railroads to mastering the commerce of the sea, a foreign bottom would be unknown to the ocean's highways.

This article will be confined to a discussion of our ports for the products of the farm must pass over our wharfs before reaching the water. We have in this nation 51 ports, of which 41 are on the Atlantic and 10 are on the Pacific Coast. The Sixty-second Congress appropriated over $51,000,000 for improving our Rivers and Harbors and private enterprise levies a toll of approximately $50,000,000 annually in wharfage and charges for which no tangible service is rendered. The latter item should be lifted off the backs of the farmer of this nation and this can be done by Congress directing its appropriations to ports that are free where vessels can tie up to a wharf and discharge her cargo free of any fee or charge.

A free port is progress. It takes out the unnecessary link in the chain of transactions in commerce which has for centuries laid a heavy hand upon commerce. No movement is so heavily laden with results or will more widely and equally distribute its benefits as that of a free port and none can be more easily and effectively secured.

THE VITAL PROBLEM OF AGRICULTURE

By Peter Radford.

There is no escaping the market problem and the highest development of agriculture will not be attained until it is solved, for a market is as necessary for the producer as land on which to grow his crop. Governmental and educational institutions have spent $180,000,000 in the United States during the past ten years for improving soil production and improving seeds and plants, but very little attention and less money has been given to the marketing side of agriculture.

The problem is a monumental one and one which will never be solved until it gets within the grasp of a gigantic organization where master minds can concentrate the combined experience and wisdom of the age upon it. It is a problem which the farmers, merchants, bankers, editors and statesmen must unite in solving.

The Farmers' Union stands for all there is in farming from the most scientific methods of seed selection to the most systematic and profitable plans of marketing, but does not believe in promoting one to the neglect of the other. We consider the work of farm demonstrators valuable and we ask that governmental and commercial agencies seeking to help us, continue to give us their assistance and advice, but we believe that their influence should be extended to the marketing side of our farm problems also.

We cannot hope to develop manufacturing by over-production of the factory; we cannot build up mercantile enterprises by the merchants loading their shelves with surplus goods and no more can we develop agriculture by glutting the market with a surplus of products.

DARIUS

The neigh of a horse made Darius King of Persia, the six contending powers for the throne agreeing among themselves that the one whose horse should neigh first should possess the kingdom. This ancient method of settling disputes among politicians could be revived with profit today. If our partisan factions and petty politicians could only settle their disputes by the neigh of a horse, the bark of a dog or the bray of a donkey, it would be a great blessing and would give our citizens a better opportunity to pursue the vocations of industry free from political strife.

Let those who pick political plums by raising rows and who flash swords dripping in the blood of industry understand that they cannot turn the public forum into a political arena and by a clash of personal aspirations still the hammer and stop the plow and that their quarrels must be settled in the back alley of civilization.

POLITICAL AGITATORS

POLITICIANS WHO CAPITALIZE STRIKE A MENACE TO GOVERNMENT.

Neglect of Agricultural and Industrial Opportunities a National Crime.

By Peter Radford.

There never was a time in the history of this nation when we needed statesmen more or agitators less than at the present moment. The opportunities now afforded us on land and sea demand the best there is in statecraft and the possibilities that are confronting us call for national issues that unite the people, build industry and expand trade. The agricultural and industrial development of this nation has suffered severely at the hands of agitators who have sent torpedoes crashing into the port side of business and whose neglect of the interests of the farmer makes them little less than political criminals. We want no more of these evil spirits to predominate in government. Too long their hysterical cry has sent a shiver down the spinal column of industry. Too long have the political agitators capitalized strife, pillaged progress and murdered opportunity. An industrial corpse is not a desirable thing, a crippled business an achievement or neglect an accomplishment about which any representative of the government has a right to boast.

Issues that Breed Agitators Should be Eliminated.

The political agitator must be eliminated from public life before thoughtful consideration can be given to a constructive program in government. The liquor question is the most prolific breeding ground for agitators and whether pro or anti, the hatch is equally as undesirable. This article is in no sense a discussion of the liquor question but deals solely and by way of illustration with the political products of that issue. Other subjects will be dealt with in the order of their importance.

In the history of our government the liquor issue has never produced a constructive statesman worth mentioning and it never will. It has sent more freaks to Congress, Lilliputians to the Senate and incompetents to office than any other political issue under the sun.

The recent experience of the English Parliament which lashed itself into a fury over the liquor question has a lesson that it is well for the farmers of this nation to observe; for the subject in some form or other is constantly before the public for solution and oftentimes to the exclusion of more important problems to the American plowmen.

Too Many Political Drunkards.

Lloyd George, the Prohibition leader of Europe who led the prohibition fight in England, has declared that he will never again take a drink politically and there are many American politicians—pro and anti—who would render their country a service by climbing on the water wagon or signing a pledge of political temperance. Too often our legislative halls are turned into political bar-rooms and many of the members become intoxicated on liquor discussions. We have too many political drunkards—pro and anti—in our public affairs. No one who is a slave to the political liquor habit is quite so capable of dealing with the business affairs of government as the sober and industrious. We have few public men in this day who are strong enough to resist the temptation of strong drink politically and when the demon Rum once becomes firmly entrenched in the mind of a politician, he is less capable of meeting the demands for constructive statesmanship now confronting this nation.

We have in this country too many red-nosed politicians—both pro and anti. A candidate with political delirium tremens, a proclaimer with political snakes in his boots and an agitator drunk on the liquor question are the saddest sights in civilization and they should all be forced to take the political Kooly Cure.

It is far more important in government to make it easier for those who toil to eat than to make it more difficult for a few toppers to drink. There is not one person in one hundred of our rural population that ever touches liquor but we all eat three times a day.

THE WINNER

JOHN M. WAUGH

Was born in Carter county in 1873. Was reared in Lawrence county. Raised on a farm. Worked hard to aid his parents, who were poor, to rear nine children, he being the oldest. Obtained most of his limited education by the light of the lamp after work hours. Has had a struggle all of his life and is still struggling. Has fought his way up through life at every step, and is still fighting. He is willing to fight on, and at all times only invites a fair, square fight in the open. Knows and is true to his friends.

He is a democrat of the truest mettle, but willing to concede every man a right to his own opinion. Has been in the front of his party's battles for 25 years, and this is the only office he ever held. Fights just as hard against odds as for a sure victory. Never in life failed to go to an election and support his party's nominees.

If you vote for him you KNOW you will vote for a true Democrat.

Go to every docket in the District and compare their condition with 7, 8 and 10 years ago. He invites inquiry into his official record.

The democrats of Carter county have struggled for years with an overwhelming majority of the opposition. This office of Commonwealth's Attorney is the only one they have ever at any time asked or held, and they come to you now, asking, almost as a unit, that you endorse, again, the record of John M. Waugh in this office.

Ask yourself the question, "Why should we turn him down for Mr. Sullivan or Mr. Castle and lose the District to the democratic Party?"—Carter County News.

I heartily endorse all that the News has said with reference to John M. Waugh. I have known John Waugh for more than twenty years; first as a student whom I had the honor to teach at Denton Academy; second, as a law student in Carter county; third, as a lawyer at the bar; and fourth, as an official in the capacity of Commonwealth's Attorney.

I have noted with interest his struggles to get an education, teaching part of the time for expense money and burning midnight oil at study the balance of the year. Then came his struggle for a legal education and a place at the Carter county bar, and lastly his reward came with his victory over all obstacles, and John Waugh took a place among the leading lawyers of Eastern Kentucky, and the people chose him for their legal guardian in his judicial district.

That John M. Waugh has made an honest, efficient, untiring official is not questioned by the people. Those who charge him with laxness in the discharge of his duties cannot prove their case by the criminals of this district. They fear him as they would a tiger in the jungle. Why should he be retired because he has served the people faithfully? His former services are the loudest arguments for his re-election. No better official can be found, and we shall go far indeed before we find one so efficient, so honest, so faithful.
JOHN MORGAN PERRY,
Blaze, Ky., July 1, 1915.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

If the local option law is bad enough to enlist the support of the liquor men it is not good enough for temperance people. The liquor people are supporting Stanley and McDermott. The churches, ministers and the real temperance people are supporting McChesney. Which side are YOU on? It's either for or against liquor. Supporting liquor men is supporting liquor. (Adv)

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

I—Introductory

Through the Press Service of Agriculture and Commerce, the master minds of this nation will be invited to the public forum and asked to deliver a message to civilization. Men who achieve seldom talk, and men who talk seldom achieve. There is no such thing as a noisy thinker, and brevity is always a close companion to truth.

It will be a great privilege to stand by the side of men who can roll in place the cornerstone of industry; to associate with men who can look at the world and see to the bottom of it; to commune with men who can hear the roar of civilization a few centuries away.

Too often we listen to the rabble element of our day that cries out against every man who achieves, "Crucify him." Mankind never has and probably never will produce a generation that appreciates the genius of its day. There never will be a crown without a cross, progress without sacrifice or an achievement without a challenge.

This is an age of service, and that man is greatest who serves the largest number. The present generation has done more to improve the condition of mankind than any civilization since human motives began their upward flight. The Greeks gave human life inspiration, but while her orators were speaking with the tongues of angels, her farmers were plowing with forked sticks; while her philosophers were emancipating human thought from bondage, her traffic moved on two-wheeled carts driven, and oftentimes drawn, by slaves; while her artists were painting divine dreams on canvas, the streets of proud Athens were lighted by fire-brands dipped in tallow.

The genius of past ages sought to arouse the intellect and stir the soul but the master minds of today are seeking to serve. Civilization has assigned to America the greatest task of the greatest age, and the greatest men that ever trod the greatest planet are solving it. Their achievements have astounded the whole world and we challenge every age and nation to name men or products that can approach in creative genius or masterful skill in organization, the marvelous achievements of the tremendous men of the present day. Edison can press a button and turn a light on multiplied millions of homes; Vail can take down the receiver and talk with fifty millions of people; McCormick's reaper can harvest the world's crop, and Fulton's steam engine moves the commerce of land and sea.

The greatest thing a human being can do is to serve his fellow men; Christ did it; Kings decree it, and wise men teach it. It is the glory of this practical age that Edison could find no higher calling than to become the janitor to civilization; Vail the hired hand to agriculture, and McCormick the teamster to industry, and blessed is the age that has such masters for its servants.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Crops in this section are fine but just now badly in the weeds on account of wet weather. Oats are extra fine but are waiting for sunshine weather to be harvested.

The recent floods greatly damaged crops in the valley of the North Fork and its affluent streams.

Yes; the square of corn that FAIRPLAY reports on Grassy Creek must be the finest in our part of the State; at least, it ought to be. But farmers can not get sixty tons of stable fertilizer for every seven-eighths of an acre, even though they plant small crops and do intensive farming. What we need in experiments in grain production is a manure that is practicable for every farmer for his every acre. We will produce one hundred bushels of corn on one acre of land by such crop rotation and soil improvement as we can all practice every year on all we plant.

We are wondering if Mr. Sullivan actually counted those five thousand Democrats who have taboored three terms of office, and the alleged seven thousand who have condemned life tenure in office, and the seven hundred who have a knife up their sleeves for his opponent. He is aspiring to the wrong office. Census taker is the job he wants. Notice how carefully and accurately he has counted and tabulated those voters without getting them mixed up. We commend him to the appointive powers for Superintendent of the next census. But a great many people are superstitious and queer, you know. A great lot of them are whispering it around that Henry just guessed at those figures, and that even his guess was inspired by his political dreams. Now while we are willing to admit that it is mean for people to talk about a fellow that way we must confess that we do not know of any of those five thousand and seven thousand and seven hundred Democrats in this section of the district. Oh, of course, he might have dreamed it—they all say he did.

There is a class of people—mostly office-seekers—who seem to regard public offices as personal rights. "It's somebody else's time," they claim. They look upon an office as a means of making a living or making some money and seem to think that every one has a right to get a rake at it in successive order. But that is not the intention of the law in the creation of offices. The man who can best execute the duties of an office is the man whom the law contemplates. And that is the man who is selected by communities, municipalities and States whose people have the public interest at heart. The individual is nothing; the State, county, or district is everything. The longer an efficient official performs the duties of an office, the better he understands the requirements and the more good he can do for his constituents. Was not Kentucky's voice in the American Congress more potent and effective when we had Blackburn, Breckenridge, Beck, Crittenden, and Clay in the halls of our National Legislature? And why? There were two reasons; first, because they were supremely fitted for Congress by natural endowment and education; and, secondly, because our people kept them there for terms unnumbered, most of them during their lives. Note the course of the New England States: when those people get an able man in Congress they keep him there as long as he lives, or as long as they can induce him to serve.

Now this policy is as true of any other office as it is of congressional representatives. If a man is able, educated for the office he holds, and has had long experience in the line of public duty he aspires to perform, it stands to reason that he will be much more effective as an official than some man of no experience and far less natural and acquired qualification. A public office is a public trust, to be filled for the benefit of all the people, and the man who is best fitted by experience and ability is the proper man for the place, regardless of how often he has filled the office.

In fact, his having made an efficient officer is the best argument in his favor. Would a farmer discharge a good farm hand who has labored on his farm for years and knows all about his stock, his fields, his crops and needs, just because some other fellow comes along and says he wants the job a while? Well, hardly! An officer bears the same relation to the State that the farm laborer bears to the farmer. Each is a servant chosen, or supposed to be chosen for his fitness for the job; and what makes for fitness more than experience?

We contend that the former faithful and efficient services of John M. Waugh, are the loudest arguments for his re-election. We know him. We know he is honest, faithful, highly efficient, and that he has had ripe experience in the office he is seeking. Why listen to the man who, like the farm hand, seeks to succeed to another's position for the sole reason that the other man is well qualified and experienced in the business? "Oh," they say, our boys will never have a chance for an office." Well, if your boy seeks an office on your platform, he oughtn't have it. Educate him and qualify him and then the people will call him to official service for his merits.

The sensible people of this district are not going to do any such thing as our friends from Jephtha and Ezel suggest. John M. Waugh has made an official who has graced the office of Commonwealth's attorney. His great abilities have attracted wide attention in the State. The law-breaking element are as afraid of him as they would be of a lion, so to speak. The writers from Ezel and Jephtha who have written so loudly of his letting whiskey sellers go free just make people smile. When he became our public prosecutor there were no less than a dozen whiskey men in the district who openly vended whiskey under the "five-gallon" excuse and kept this country in terror. Where are those men now? Are they still at their old job? They are not; They have quit it—every one of them. Their stills and their whiskey and their ill-gotten money went to pay fines to the State, and most of them are now good citizens. Now, you writers know that is true. If boot-leggers are in your communities, that is your magistrate's business,—your constable's or your sheriff's business, your neighbor's business—your own business! Hunt them up; go before the magistrate and get a writ and have them arrested and tried. Go to the grand jury and indict them, and I will vouch for Waugh's prosecuting them to the jail house. The people all know this is true, and those writers know it too.

Then those same writers make a loud noise about what Waugh's opponent will do—will do, mind you! How do you know what he WILL do? The people know what Waugh HAS done, and they have a reason for saying what he will do because of what he has done in the past. Give a reason for the faith that is in you! The man you are booming is practically a stranger to you; so how do you know so well what he will do?

Never trade off a noble horse while crossing a dangerous river. We are in a fight now, making our district the cleanest and freest from crime of any in the State. Our progress is great; we are already attracting attention from surrounding districts for our freedom from crime. Let us not even think of trading while breasting the waves—trading a true and tried servant who has done so much for our country and its morality for another who has no better excuse than that he wants the job.

This is written from the standpoint of the citizen who votes for the best interests of his country. As individuals these men sink from view; their claims come not from their personal friendship or personal charms, but alone from their services and fitness for the positions they seek to occupy for the discharge of further services of the same kind. The Continental Takes Notice.

New York, N. Y., July 14, 1915. Editor Licking Valley Courier, West Liberty, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:—

It has been brought to our notice that at various times your paper has published articles relative to the acquisition of the Amyx Titles by this Company, and has accused some local person of being responsible for the sale of these titles to the Company.

No person living in Morgan county had anything to do with the negotiations for or the sale of these titles to the Continental Coal, Land & Timber Company.

If the people of Morgan county accuse Mr. John B. Phipps of being responsible for the sale of these titles to the Company, it is an error. Mr. Phipps had nothing to do with the acquisition of these titles by the Continental, took no part in the negotiations and so far as I know reaped no advantage from the sale.

The sale was brought about by parties living entirely outside the State of Kentucky.

Some months after the Continental had purchased these titles it discovered from an examination of the records that Mr. Phipps held a Tax Deed to one grant numbered 28062. It then purchased from Mr. Phipps his Tax Title to this grant and paid him therefor only the small amount of money which he claimed to have paid at the time he purchased it.

May I add to this that the Continental has been interested only in the development of the mineral resources in this part of the State, and has no intention of depriving anyone of their just rights.

I trust that you will find space to publish this letter and thereby avoid the impression that anyone residing in Morgan county or in the State of Kentucky was instrumental in bringing about the sale of these titles to this Company.

Yours truly,
Continental Coal, Land & Timber Company,
SOLOMON C. WHITEBECK, Secy.

Continental Coal, Land & Timber Company,
Solomon C. Whitebeck, Secy.
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:
Your favor of the 14 inst. to hand and contents carefully noted. It was very gratifying to learn that no person or persons living in Morgan county had anything to do with the negotiations for or the sale of the Amyx titles to the Continental Coal, Land & Timber Co. The people of Morgan county do not want to believe that any of their own people would sell a bogus title to the homes in which they have lived for nearly three-quarters of a century. But Mr. Whitebeck, we are very anxious to know, and in justice to us and to yourself you ought to tell us who negotiated these deals. You surely ought to be possessed of this information, and the people of Morgan and adjoining counties would be very grateful to you if you would tell them just who the responsible persons are.

Mr. Whitebeck, I am going to ask you a few pointed questions and at the same time tender you all the space in the Courier you may need for your answers. You say in the sixth paragraph of your letter that the Continental has been interested only in the development of the mineral resources in this part of the state, and has no intention of depriving anyone of their just rights.—Did you have abstracts of the titles to your holdings in this county made before you purchased them? If so, were they made by reputable attorneys, and did they look good on paper? Did you make a bona fide effort to ascertain whether or not you could hold anything you bought in this county, or were you satisfied when you learned that you could hold back development and keep legitimate investors from entering this part of the state? If your company is interested solely in the legitimate development of this section are you not convinced that you made a serious blunder in purchasing wildcat titles when you could have gotten thousands of acres of coal and timber lands from the lawful and rightful owners thereof?

These questions are respectfully submitted to you and I shall expect your answer at once.

I am publishing your letter and this reply and will mail you a marked copy of the paper containing them.

Yours very truly,
H. G. COTTLE.

A Last Appeal.

The last appeal to the democratic voters of Morgan County.

You will on August 7th, 1915, go to each of the voting places and there and then cast your votes for one of three candidates for the office of Circuit Court Clerk, and I, your humble servant, being one of the three candidates for your support in this race.

I don't ask you to give me this nomination because I have always been a true and loyal democrat and supported all of its nominees, and all of my people have done the same, but because I feel myself fully competent and qualified to perform all the duties of said office, and need what money I can make out of the said office.

Fellow democrats, you all know that it is impossible for me to get out and go all over this county and see each of you personally as my opponents are doing, and if I could I would not be asking you for this nomination, but the hand of affliction has been placed upon me and left me in such a physical condition that it is out of my power to come and see you all; therefore I ask each and all of you for your support, if I do not get to see you.

Kind friends you know that it is out of my power to go out and perform manual labor for support and that this is the only place that I can work to make a living, and support myself and family. I want to be self supporting; to make my own living if I can work, and I believe the good people of this county are going to give me this office and tell me to go ahead and support myself with the proceeds of the Circuit Court Clerk's Office.

Some of my opponents are telling you that I have been in office all my life and have plenty of money. Now they know, and most every voter in this county knows that I never was elected to office or held a county office in my life. I have worked for men who have been elected to and they paid me for it just as you would a man working for you on the farm, and as to money matters I have been compelled to pay all I ever made on account of sickness of myself and family. A great many of you know of the financial condition that I was placed in during my father and mother's sickness and death. But friends let me tell you what little I had went free for their relief as far as I could assist, and since their death I have had to spend all I made on myself and wife, so today I am in debt and have a mortgage on our little home and unless I get this nomination it will be impossible for me to pay said mortgage, so my house will have to be sold from myself, wife and little baby.

Now friends if you want to help me pay this mortgage and help me keep my home and support my family vote for me on the 7th of August. In my first announcement I said that I was a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the democratic primary, and that I would make the race alone without the promise of deputyship, clerk hire or reward to any person or persons whomsoever, binding myself under that promise, so today there is no man got any promise from me directly or indirectly. Now when you vote for me you are voting for me and me alone. My wife and I can do all the work there is to be done in the office, and if I have to hire a boy to carry books up and down stairs during Circuit Court I can get some one to do that for me and will not have to give half the proceeds of the office to get it done. If I get this nomination I don't want to have to give it all away to get it. I am opposed to two or more candidates combining to try to defeat the stronger candidates who are making their own race alone, and want to treat all square and fair. It isn't just to the democratic party, for in that event if they are elected the party will not get the strongest man for their nominee.

My opponents are saying and trying to make you believe that if I am elected that it will be a continuance of R. M. Oakley, in office. I want to say here that Mr. Oakley would not take the nomination without opposition, much less a deputyship. So that if I am nominated and elected Mr. Oakley will not have any part or parcel in the office. Nor no other man is promised any thing from me.

Now friends when you go into your booths to vote, God alone seeing you, just say to yourself:

"If I were in Dudley Lykins' condition what would I want him and his friends to do for me?"

So let your conscience dictate for you and vote accordingly, and I will be satisfied.

Your servant,
J. D. LYKINS.
